User Testimonials

"I have been looking for a long time for a place to interact with the outside world. I am an FDA scientist in the Center for Devices and Radiological Devices. I don't remember how or when I stumbled on the NCIPHub, but I tested the group feature with a few colleagues and then jumped in all the way by opening the group to a network of contacts interested in the evaluation of whole slide imaging. So far I am very happy with the platform to communicate and share... more."
